

1 Q. What are the job responsibilities of a project editor as you understand them? 09:06:15
2 09:06:19

3 A. To make sure that books are grammatic and the punctuation is correct; that the overall content is good; that it reflects Harvest House standards on theology, which is a conservative Christian viewpoint. 09:06:28
4 09:06:31
6 09:06:37

7 Correct spelling, of course. 09:06:42

8 Q. And is that everything as you understand it? 09:06:46

9 A. No, it's not everything, but it's most of it. 09:06:51

10 Q. Okay. And we'll talk a little bit more about that in a minute. 09:06:54
11 09:06:56

12 A. Okay. 09:06:57

13 Q. But give me a similar scope of description for a copy editor as you understand it. 09:06:57
14 09:07:00

15 A. Copy editor isn't in charge of content, per se. Copy editor doesn't check -- copy editor is still in charge of grammar and punctuation and spelling. 09:07:04
16 09:07:10
17 09:07:17
18 09:07:21
19 09:07:26

20 Q. Would you say the primary difference between a copy editor and a project editor is that a project editor does substantive or line-by-line editing? 09:07:31
21 09:07:33
22 09:07:37

23 A. Does more of that type of editing. I wouldn't say I'm a substantive editor, more line by line. 09:07:41
24 09:07:48

25 Q. I'm sorry, you would not say that you are? 09:07:56
